

Plateforme TXM - Bug # 3307

|                                                                                                      |                                                                                              |                   |                     |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------|---------------------|
| Statut:                                                                                       | Feedback                                                                                     | Priorité:  | Normal              |
| Auteur:                                                                                       | Sebastien Jacquot                                                                            | Catégorie: | UI / Link / Command |
| Créé :                                                                                        | 27/10/2022                                                                                   | Assigné à: |                     |
| Mis-à-jour :                                                                                  | 26/01/2024                                                                                   | Echéance:  |                     |
| Sujet:                                                                                        | RCP: InternalView, "Send to Progression" command opens an editor but the query is not filled |                   |                     |
| Description                                                                                   |                                                                                              |                   |                     |
| Windows 10: InternalView, "Send to Progression" command opens an editor but the query is not filled. |                                                                                              |                   |                     |

Historique

#1 - 27/10/2022 16:44 - Sebastien Jacquot

The Progression needs a list of queries but InternalViewEditor.createQuery() creates a unique query.

#2 - 28/10/2022 12:29 - Sebastien Jacquot

- Statut changé de New à Feedback
- % réalisé changé de 0 à 80

Fixed.
Only 1 line is selectable in the table of Internal View Editor. Is it the expected behavior?

#3 - 09/02/2023 09:39 - Matthieu Decorde

- Version cible changé de TXM 0.8.4 à TXM 0.8.3

#4 - 26/01/2024 11:17 - Sebastien Jacquot

- Version cible changé de TXM 0.8.3 à TXM 0.8.4